

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

DEMPSEY AND MITCHELL.
OREGON.

The county jail at Astoria is empty. The Astorian Journal says the tiny seedling Fall sown wheat is looking well.

Grass growing finely and stock reported doing well in the Fall Creek region, in Lane County.

At Fal Creek, Lane County, a few days ago, two courageous women killed a deer with an axe.

The hills about the Dalles are covered with a thick carpet of green grass, and stock is faring well.

S. F. Fliped, late editor of the Portland Star, has removed to his former home, Roseburg.

A large number of miners and prospectors are outfitting at Baker City for a trip to the mountains.

M. T. J. Denton was appointed sheep Inspector for Lane County at the special session of commissioners' court.

Farmers throughout Lane County say that the method for a fine crop of wheat has not been so satisfactory for many years now.

Over fifteen men were received into the Methodist church last night by baptism, at Eugene City. Five were immersed and the others sprinkled.

The small boys of the The Dalles have organized a museum, in which they have all the modern appliances for improving the muscle.

At the other end house, near Salem, a debate is going on as to the merits of L. question on Saturday night. This is said to be a red-hot interest in the subject.

Show is fast disappearing from the mountains in Baker County, and it will not be long before the miners and prospectors will have easy access to the timber and mines.

John Crat of Wallowa County, had the misfortune to have a horse fall upon him a few days ago, dislocating his shoulder, and otherwise breaking his ribs quite severely.

The right of way for the Oregon Pacific railroad has been selected for several miles eastward, and the first contracts are being distributed over the portion of the road.

Some heavy salmon contracts, says the Astoria, have been made. In case the salmon should take a notion to strike, it would be pretty rough on some of those who have "gold to do."

Mr. Miron correspondent of the Walla Walla Journal: The prospect for crops is splendid. The people are beginning to open their eyes and smack their lips again at finding the peaches are not all dried.

Bandon Recorder: From the numerous arrests of each day, each man for building, we have no hesitancy in saying that Bandon is about to experience a building boom of no small proportions this coming summer.

The steamer Yaqutia, now at the bay discharging a portion of her cargo consists of coal, and is bound for the Columbia River.

The last San Francisco steamer brought to Astoria a boiler and other machinery for the new cannery to be run by Wm. T. Coleman & Co., the proprietors of the cannery, which will be located on the hill above the cannery.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum, Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the East, is at work at Independence with the Christian church, and has already a building projected and ready for commencement. He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum,

Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the

East, is at work at Independence with the

Christian church, and has already a building

projected and ready for commencement.

He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum,

Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the

East, is at work at Independence with the

Christian church, and has already a building

projected and ready for commencement.

He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum,

Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the

East, is at work at Independence with the

Christian church, and has already a building

projected and ready for commencement.

He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum,

Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the

East, is at work at Independence with the

Christian church, and has already a building

projected and ready for commencement.

He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum,

Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the

East, is at work at Independence with the

Christian church, and has already a building

projected and ready for commencement.

He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.

The Pendleton board of trade announced a committee consisting of Messrs. Balleray, Blum,

Wheeler and Wagner, to visit Walla Walla to day and confer in regard to freight rates and the effect of the interstate commerce law, and present the matter to the national commissioners.

Elmer S. W. P. Bell, of Portland, for the

East, is at work at Independence with the

Christian church, and has already a building

projected and ready for commencement.

He preached acceptably at Salem on Tuesday evening, and his way to find a regular appointment at Silverton.

A meeting of the Oregon Pomerological Society will be held at the Dalles on Saturday, April 9, at which time the further discussion of fruit culture will be continued. Mr. E. Schanck will report on the various kinds of fruit growing, and other business of importance to orchardists will be transacted. A large attendance of members is requested.

A movement is on foot, to establish a manufacturing concern in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

W. C. T. U. at Albany has elected Mrs. Hatch as its speaker. Mrs. Barnes, recording secretary, Mrs. Pittenger, corresponding recorder, and Mrs. Brown treasurer.

The treasurer's report shows that there was no increase in cost in Yamhill County, at what is now called West Linn.

It is expected that the place is made up from the names White and Garrison, and will be Wilmont.

Lowell, Lane County, correspondence Eugene City Register: Plenty of sick horses. Fourteen have died since the snow fell, February 1. Only two are living of all that have been very sick.

No Sooper, Englewood was called and he pronounced the dead horses to be sound, at least at the time of his visit.